SCIENCE

There are two classroom-laboratories at Pembroke State College. One is in the Science Building for Biology and Chemistry, the other for Physics and a variety of uses. These rooms are being equipped with more and better apparatus each year. Several student organizations are active in the Sciences, and there are blue prints for a Science Building.

"Complaints tell me that students are showing interest," says energetic Derek Lowry, president of the student body. To follow up on this, the Student Senate keeps an office for students to go in and voice their complaints or to offer suggestions about things that need to be done. Upon receiving these complaints, Calvin Ramsey, senate president, appoints committees to look into them. The last weeks of February committees were investigating the bookstore policy used at PSU and another committee was meeting with the Director of Food Services to eliminate the $10 cost of replacing lost or stolen meal tickets.

SGA

Charles Deaver, Secretary of Movies, is another person largely responsible for some form of campus social life . . . which of course is the movies shown. He devoted much of his time to the selection and the presentation of the films and admirably, like many other persons in student government, worked without pay.

David McDuffy, the Secretary of Entertainment was largely responsible for a highly successful homecoming week. There was a parade which all students could, if desired, have attended, fireworks and a formal dance at the Ramada Inn in Lumberton. The dance could be termed nothing short of a smashing success.

Dear Diary.

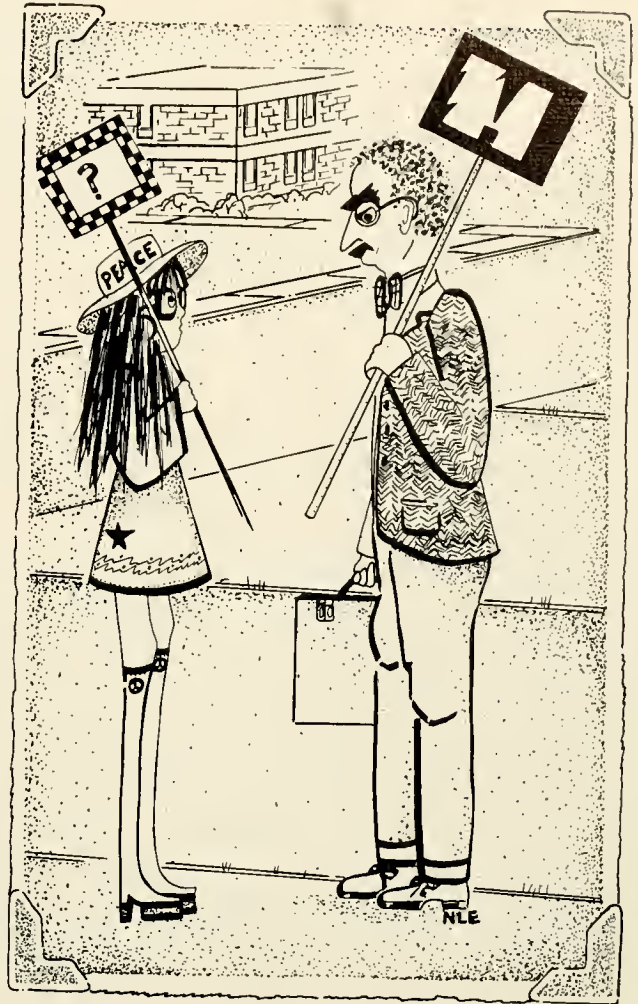

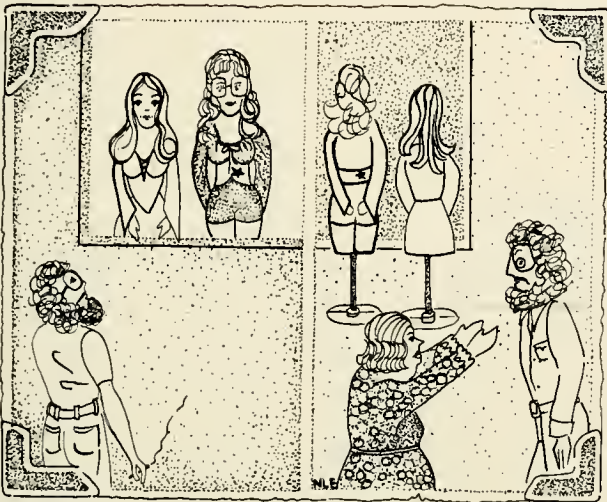

Today was the first day of the semester. A lovely day if you're a duck. I went to register and waited in line for 45 minutes. The woman wouldn't let me pay or register because of a 7.50 library fine. I paid the fine, waited in line another half an hour only to find I was closed out of two of my classes.

Met my roommate, Rodney Crumplin. What a character! Nice guy, I guess. He did his laundry. Pinned his socks together to wash them. I saw his underwear. Doesn't smoke, drink or swear. The only thing we have in common is our room number.

Well, goodnight Diary.

Ralph

The history of Pembroke State University is inseparable from the history of the Lumbee Indians of North Carolina, the largest body of Indians east of the Mississippi River. Although the origin of the Lumbees remains somewhat controversial and mysterious, there is no doubt that they are a vital, vigorous part of the society and history of Robeson County and North Carolina. It is equally true that their history has been one of struggle to gain identity, to acquire an education and to become first-class citizens. Pembroke State University has its origins in that struggle.

A key development in the history of the Lumbees was the North Carolina Convention of 1835. Previously the Indians were allowed to attend school, to serve in the military of their country, and, if they met the legal requirements, to vote. After this Convention, they were relegated to a condition of second class citizenship. From 1835 to 1868, the Indians suffered the indignities of discrimination. They were not allowed to vote, to attend school, or even, as a matter of general policy, to serve in the Confederate Army, though some were willing. Instead, during the Civil War they were closely watched by the Home Guard as a potential danger and used as "forced labor" on projects such as the coastal batteries near Wilmington, a practice bitterly resented by this proud people. In fact, the confusion, discrimination and deprivation of the War years heightened tension between the races in Robeson County. This situation exploded into a ten-year "war" between the Henry Berry Lowrie "band" and the Whites in 1864. The terror and bloodshed of the "Lowrie War" was compounded by the bitterness and problems of Reconstruction, a period when the victorious North dealt harshly with the vanquished South.

More than one hundred years after the Lowrie War the Indians of Robeson County still ponder and discuss the sudden disappearance of Henry Berry Lowry in 1872. They wonder whether the guerilla leader was killed and his body secretly buried, or whether he left the state for a safer and friendlier environment. The only certainty is that no one ever collected the reward placed on his head. The mystery that surrounds him is unlikely ever to be cleared up to the satisfaction of all.

In recognition of Henry Berry Lowrie's role in Lumbee history, Robeson County is preparing for an outdoor drama, "Strike at the Wind", based on this Indian hero's life.

When Reconstruction ended in 1875, North Carolina began to move forward in public education. However, the period from 1875 to 1885 was a decade of despair for the Indians of Robeson County. Not only were they denied schools of their own, but they were now made brutally aware of their lack of identity as a people. The Indians, fortunately, had an advocate of their cause in the North Carolina General Assembly — the Honorable Hamilton McMillan of Red Springs. He had investigated the origins of the Robeson County Indians and concluded that they were the descendents of the "Lost Colony" and a tribe of coastal Indians he labeled the "Croatans" (actually the Indians to which he had reference were Hatteras Indians, but some lived on an island called Croatan).

Consequently, Mr. McMillan had legislation enacted giving the Indians of Robeson County both a name and the privilege of their own public schools. The two significant provisions of the law were: Section 1. "That the said Indians and their descendants shall hereafter be designated and known as the Croatan Indians;" and Section 2. "That said Indians and their descendants shall have separate schools for their children, school committees of their own race and color, and shall be allowed to select teachers of their own choice —."

In 1887 an act to establish a normal school in Robeson County was passed by the North Carolina General Assembly. The first board of trustees was composed of the Reverend W.L. Moore, Preston Locklear, James Oxendine, James Dial, Sr., J.J. Oxendine, Isaac Brayboy and Olin Oxendine. The end product of their work was Croatan Normal School. The Act stated, "All those who shall enjoy the privileges of said school as students shall previously obligate to teach the youth of the Croatan race for a stated period." The legislation appropriated five hundred dollars for the payments of services rendered and for no other purpose. When W.L. Moore called a meeting to implement the provisions of the law, very few citizens attended. And even then he found it necessary to give $200.00 of his own money and to devote his energies full time to the school so it could open and begin serving the people. The first college building, a two-story structure, was located on a one-acre site near Pates, where New Hope Church now stands. This original building was constructed by the Indian people since the legislature made no provisions for housing the Indian students. Since W.L. Moore had completed his normal work and since he had played such a major role in getting the school started, it was only fitting that he was elected the first head master and teacher, a position he filled for the next three years. The Croatan Normal School opened its doors in 1887 with an enrollment of fifteen students. In 1905 Reverend D.F. Lowry received the first diploma issued by the normal school for completing its "Scientific Course." In 1909 the decision was made to move the school to the present site of Pembroke State University.

Two years later because the name "Croatan" had become a label of decision, the General Assembly changed the name of the people to "Indians of Robeson County," and the name of the school to "Indian Normal School of Robeson County," a change that pleased nobody and settled nothing. The Indians wanted a more clearly identifiable name for themselves, and in 1913 the legislature renamed them the "Cherokee Indians of Robeson County" and the name of the school became the "Cherokee Indian Normal School of Robeson County," a name it would bear for the next twenty-eight years. In recognition of the fact that the school was an institution of higher learning, the 1941 state legislature officially changed the name of the school to Pembroke State College for Indians, later shortened to Pembroke State College. In 1953 the doors were opened to such white persons who might "be approved by the Board of Trustees." The Brown case in 1954 opened the school to qualified applicants without regard to race, religion, or national origins.

The General Assembly of North Carolina granted regional status to the institution in 1969 changing the name to Pembroke State University. For 67 years the institution served only Indian people of Robeson County. Today, as in 1887, a Lumbee Indian, Chancellor English E. Jones, proudly heads one of North Carolina's finest institutions.

On October 2, 1969 at the University Convocation, Governor Robert Scott concisely summed up the history and achievement of Pembroke State University; he said, "From humble beginnings Pembroke State has become a major factor in the educational system of North Carolina; its future is unlimited."

Dr. Jesse M. Lamm, Ed.D. New York University

Dr. Lamm came to Pembroke State University in the fall of 1969. He had a vast amount of experience with exceptional children. Dr. Lamm had taught the mentally retarded, served as a superintendent of an institution for neglected, dependent children, worked with recreation for the physically handicapped, and with the Boys' Club in New York City.

Dr. Lamm began developing a special education major at PSU in the spring of 1969 under the supervision of Dr. L.L. Murray, by studying the programs of other universities and consulting with their faculties and with the N.C. Department of Public Instruction.

The special education major was made possible this year. All the special education courses were taught by Dr. Lamm until the addition of Dr. Paul Berghoff in the fall of '75.

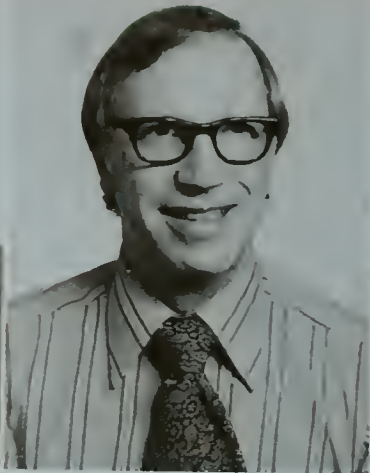

Not only has Dr. Lamm given extra attention to his work in special education, but he has also always been willing and ready to help a troubled student. Many students have turned to him for help and have received the support and guidance they needed. Because of this great understanding, and because of all he has contributed to PSU, we show our gratitude by honoring Dr. Jesse M. Lamm, in this, the 1975-76 edition of the Indianhead.

The PSU Teams

Women's Basketball Team

This is a rebuilding year for the Lady Braves of Pembroke State University. Of the 18 women squad members in pre-season drills, 13 were freshmen. Of the other five, three were sophomores and two were juniors.

Ann Webb states, "We have a chance to better last year's record (which was 6-11)."

The team leader is Sally Hall, playing her third year of varsity ball.

"Sally is quick and plays excellent defense at guard," says Coach Webb. "She had the most steals and recoveries on the team last year.

Another starter from last year back with PSU is Sharon Bolton. Sharon averaged 7.1 points a year ago and was a good rebounder.

The third letterman back is Teresa Allen, who averaged 3.4 points last season.

Last year in the state "B" division tourney at UNC-Wilmington, the Lady Braves won their first game, then lost to go into the losers' bracket and were eliminated there in the next contest. This year, PSU's girls hope for better things.

Men's Basketball

An indication of how young this Braves team is, is that there is not a single senior on the ball club. The 14-man squad includes five freshmen, five sophomores, and four juniors. No returnee other than Tom Gardner, came close to averaging in double figures last season. In fact, the top scoring average among all the other lettermen was 5.5.

"Tom Gardner shoots as well as anyone I've seen here," says Coach Gallagher, "and is an excellent passer." Even with Gardner doing well, Gallagher predicts the Braves "will be scrambling for their very lives."

Hopes are also resting on Lenwood Graham, Jim Griffith and Toney Faulcon, all returning lettermen. Some promising new players are Benny Callahan, Randy Bridges and Keith Green, all with impressive records.

However, Gallagher, as new head coach, still has quite a job ahead of him. Gone are all but one of the players who led Pembroke to records of 20-8, 21-7 and 18-10 over the past three seasons.

Baseball

"The Braves will be back!"

This is the baseball battle cry at Pembroke State University which is bent on erasing the memory of last season's 13-18 record and a third place finish in the NAIA District 29 Tournament at Wilmington.

Completely depleted of its characteristic championship talent before last year, PSU struggled through a hectic season. Now the Braves have regrouped and Coach Harold Ellen anticipates a return to the Braves' customary place in the sun.

"It may not all happen this year, but give this squad one or two seasons and we'll be right back up there," confidently predicts Ellen, who has coached PSU to four District titles and two Area crowns in the last six years.

He has only three bona fide starters returning from last season, but new faces are plentiful and credentials are outstanding. Whereas his pitching was sadly lacking a year ago, Ellen now has a mound corps of 11 hurlers, seven of them freshmen. "If just three of them come through, we'll be on our way," says Ellen.

Cross Country

The Cross Country Team captured their sixth straight District 29 title and their third NAIA Area Seven title. Steve Carney was the team leader finishing first in team place and time average. Jeff Moody, Jeff Cushing and James Plummer alternated in the second, third and fourth positions. Jeff Moody won the Most Valuable Runner award in district 29 by sweeping individual honors in the district championships.

The team competed in the NAIA National Championships in Salina, Kansas and finished 25th out of 62 teams.

Track and Field

The track team has rolled up twenty district championships in the past nine years. A powerful team, Indoor Track has a record of six titles in six years and Spring Track has collected seven titles in nine years.

During the past four seasons, two PSU trackmen have won National Championships and a total of 16 men have collected All-America or Honorable Mention All-American honors.

Soccer

The soccer team was hurt this fall with the loss of Mike Coward and Tom Williams. Strong players include Bob Fowler, Eric Ricioppo and Jonathan Ukuchu, who play the positions of center fullback, left fullback and inside right respectively.

The season finished with 2 wins, 12 losses and one tied game. That's not a good average, but as "Doc" Johnson says, "We gave them some really good games."

Wrestling

Last year Pembroke State University produced its most successful wrestling program ever with the Braves sweeping both the NAIA District 29 and Area 7 championships and finishing in a tie for 16th place among 88 teams in the NAIA nationals.

That 16th place finish was the highest of any NAIA team in the South.

Moreover, in Steve LaPrad the Braves produced an All-American. The sensation from Roanoke, Va., was runner-up for the national 158-pound championship. No other PSU wrestler has gone that far in national competition.

Because PSU is so formidable as a small college power, two Big Four teams — N.C. State and Carolina — will both visit Pembroke for the first time this year for dual meets along with the University of Georgia.

PSU was also the only small college team invited to participate in the UNC-Chapel Hill Invitational this year.

Coach Olson has four wrestlers back who went to last year's national meet, LaPrad, David Miller, Rick Liss, and Greg Frey.

Women's Tennis

This is the third year of intercollegiate tennis for PSU's Women's team, and although Lady Braves are minus five squad members of last year, including the number one player, Caron Chavis, Coach Ann Webb says: "We'll do better."

Last season the PSU team struggled to a 3-9 record, beating Methodist twice, but that was an improvement on the year before when it was 0-10.

Both the No. 2 and No. 3 players of last season return to bolster hopes. They are Martha Kivett, sophomore from Fayetteville, and Barbara Davis, junior from Maxton, who moved up from No. 5 to No. 3 during the course of last season.

PSU's women's team played a fall tennis schedule and were 1-4 in gaining valuable experience for this spring.

Men's Tennis

Rebuilding is the word for Pembroke State's tennis team with the loss of such stalwarts as Doug Eller, Mark Boyles and Sonny Garner.

Led by that trio, PSU last season compiled the best tennis record in the school's history (13-2), and Dr. Ken Johnson was named NAIA District 29 "Tennis Coach of the Year."

The only lettermen back are Gary Carter, and Rob Stewart.

"Because of losing the heart of our team, we have only a fair outlook," says Dr. Johnson.

The Braves, who lost only to East Carolina in dual match competition last year, play 12 dual matches this season plus tournaments at Campbell, Wilmington (Azalea) and the District 29 event at Wilson.

Golf

Pembroke expects to have one of its best golf teams in years. There are five returning lettermen "We will have a 10-man squad, the most players we have had out for golf," says Coach Lacey Gane.

Because of such fine depth, there will be keen competition for the six playing spots per match. Willis Nance was the team leader on a Braves' squad which had a 9-10 record last season. "Nance can be as good as he wants to be," says Gane. "He has the talent to win the District title."

Volleyball

The volleyball team finished their season with an impressive 14 wins and 6 losses. The girls placed third in the state in the "C" division of the North Carolina Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women. The team, which is only three years old, has won this position twice.

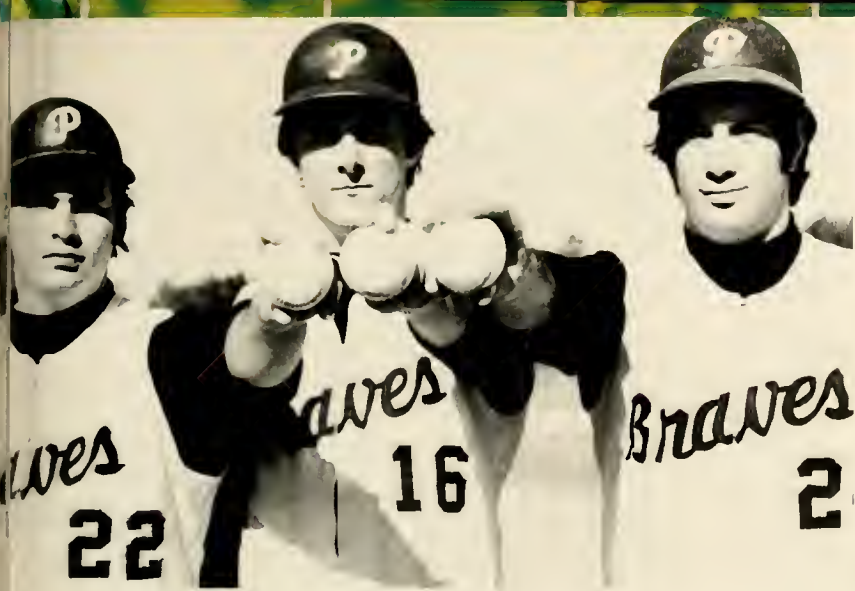

Inez Wall, who co-captains with Teresa Allen, was elected to the All-Tournament Team in the state tournament. Inez and Teresa are two of five returning letterwomen from last season's team which had a 5-11 record.

Dear Diary -

I began my swimming class today. Spent the entire class period learning how to float. The only thing I can do as well as the next guy in 3 feet of water is stand.

It was all I could do to shower, shampoo and dry my hair before my next class. The class was to be all the way over in the Science Building. When I dressed and started out of the P.E. building, it was raining cats and dogs. What a joke.

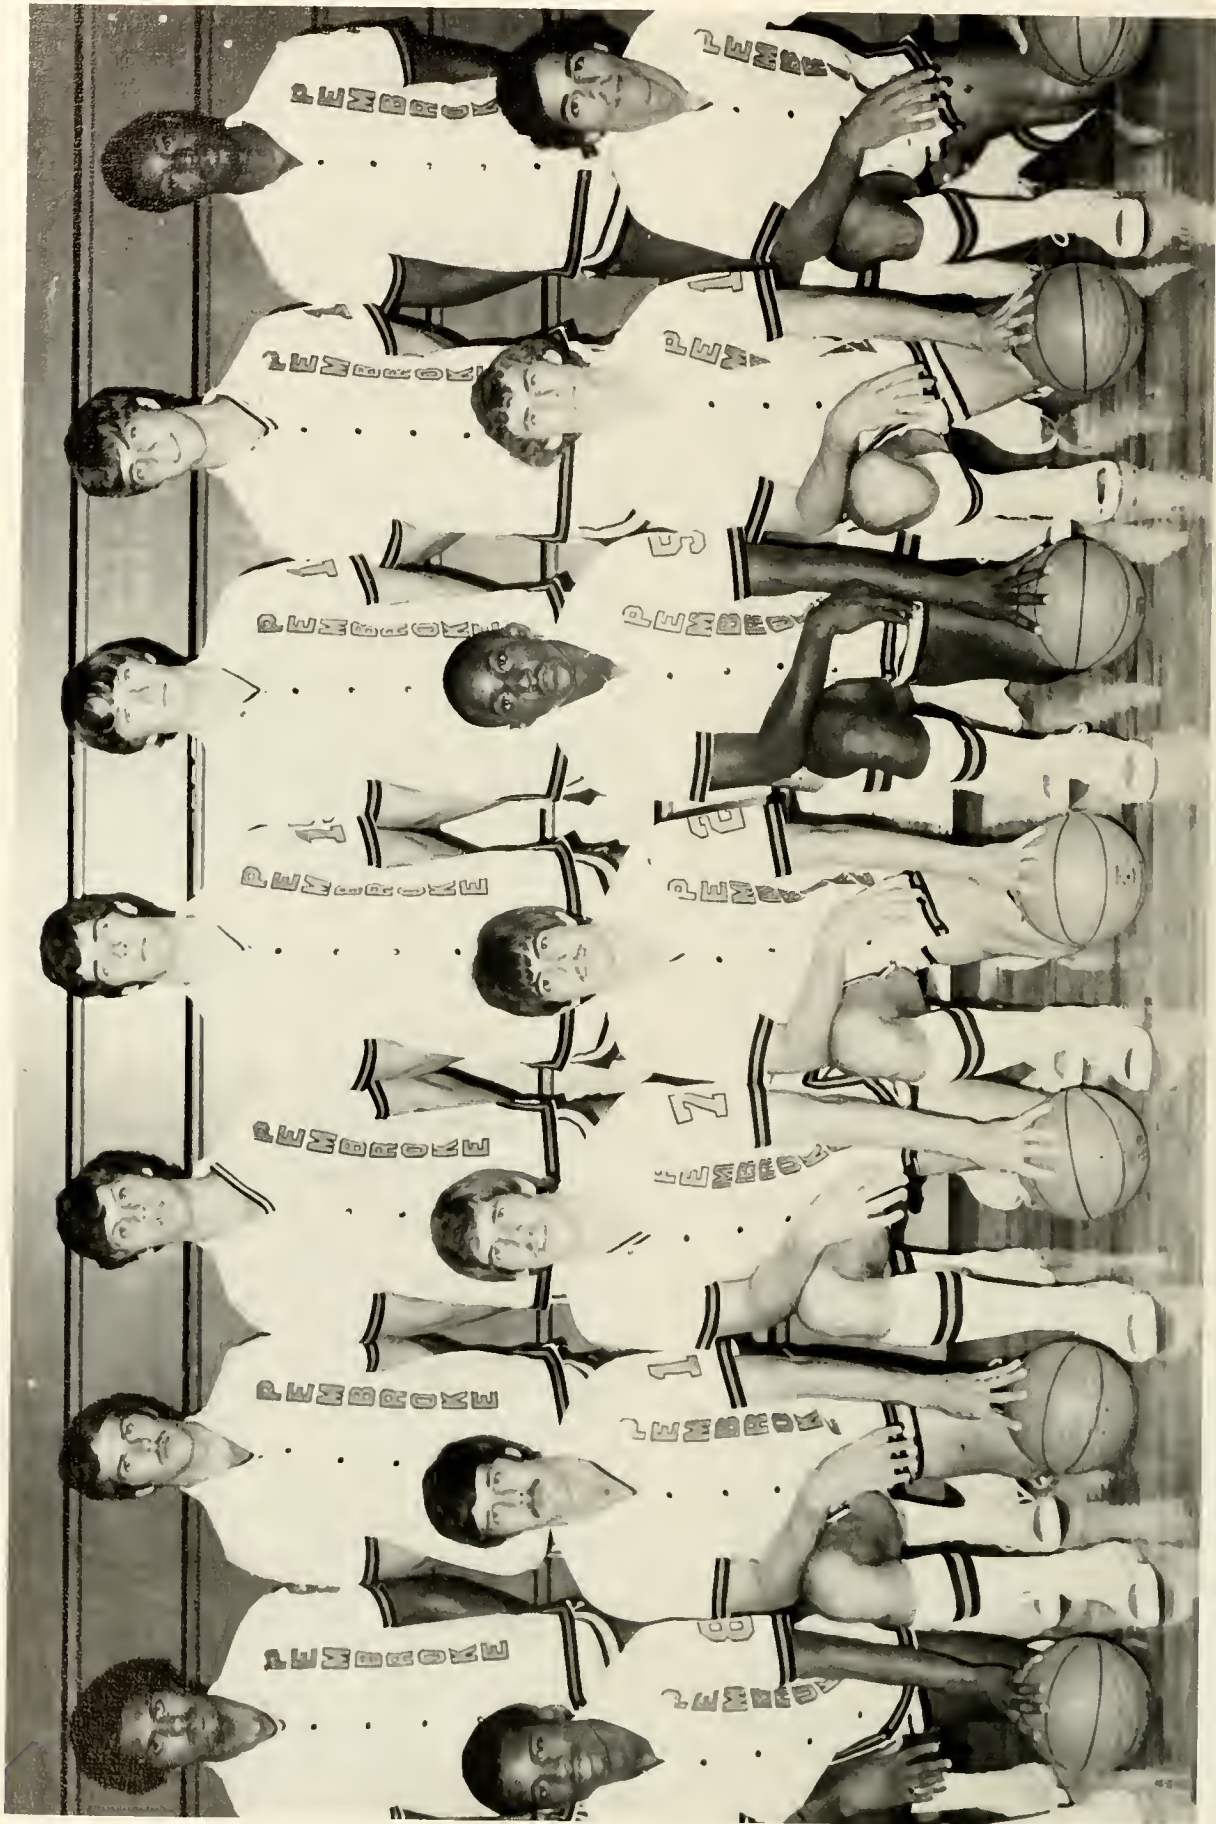

Rodney asked me if I always left my bed unmade. I asked Rodney if he always wore funny loafers. Not always. He has a pair of wing-tips for special occasions.

Goodnight ~~to~~ .

Someone just threw a firecracker under the door.

Goodnight, Diary. Ralph

Dear Diary -

I woke up with a runny nose today. An Infirmary nurse gave me the usual mouthwash, throat lozenges, Tylenol routine.

I had already bought $59.00 worth of books, so when I found I'd have to buy another, a $2.95 paperback, I decided to rip it off. I put my World Lit and Zoology books on the shelves outside the bookstore and as soon as I found the book, tucked it into my pants. I left immediately. When I reached for my books, they were gone. Only a son of a bitch would steal somebody's books.

Rodney thinks a girl in South Hall is in love with him. He says she asked if he was for real. What a guy.

Goodnight, Diary

Ralph

Meet the Greeks

Kappa Delta

Plans for the first sorority of Pembroke State University began in February of 1968. The founders of Theta Kappa Sorority were very dedicated to their plans for forming a sisterhood of young women which could aid the college and the community in civic and cultural affairs. Thus started Theta Kappa.

Being a local sorority was not enough for those ambitious girls. Theta Kappa was installed as Epsilon Zeta Chapter of Kappa Delta National Sorority on May 7, 1973.

Kappa Delta was the first sorority founded at Longwood College in Farmville, Virginia on Oct. 23, 1897. Its National Philanthropy is the Crippled Children's Hospital in Richmond, Virginia which is supported each year by Kappa Deltas all over the world buying Christmas Seals.

Locally, Epsilon Zeta collects for the Lion's Club White Cane Drive for the blind. This year we made a record collection of $550.00 for this cause.

Kappa Deltas have been very active this year on the P.S.U. campus. Some sisters are Who's Who, senators, fraternity sweethearts, usherettes, mat maids, soccer girls, representatives in the Homecoming court, representatives in the Miss P.S.U. Pageant, members on the tennis team and chairmen of various Student Government Association committees. Kappa Deltas also contribute to the Greek cause by participating with fraternities in having mixers.

Sisterhood is exemplified each spring with our annual Senior Sister Ball. This occasion is memorable to all our sisters but especially the graduating seniors. Through this function sisterhood is renewed and strengthened the forthcoming year.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

The Delta Theta chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma was colonized in December of 1973. In April of 1974, the colony was installed as a chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma National Sorority. Since that time, Delta Theta has served the students, the campus, the community, fellow Greek organizations and their National Sorority.

As a result of their work, telephone directory sheets have been placed in each dorm. Before Christmas a break from studies and worries of exams was provided when Tri Sig sponsored a tree decorating party in North Hall. To encourage the holiday spirit in the dorm, a door decorating contest was sponsored with a prize awarded to the most festively decorated door.

The National Philanthropy at N.C. Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill is a children's therapy playroom. To finance projects they hold bake sales, raffles, and hot dog sales.

Their long-range goals are to achieve on this campus, a functioning and harmonious Panhellenic Council and to improve Greek life and relationships.

Zeta Tau Alpha

Eta Sigma Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha was chartered at Pembroke State University on September 8, 1973. During the past year the Zetas have been very active.

They have been well represented all over the P.S.U. campus. Honors that Zeta's have received include being chief cheerleader, co-captain for the girls' basketball team, marshal, Who's Who, Alpha Chi Honor Sorority, secretary for the Student Government, Senior Senator, Vice-President of the Senate, Homecoming Queen Chairman, First Runner-Up of the Miss P.S.U. Pageant, Pi Kappa Phi Sweetheart, Pi Kappa Phi Little Sisters and co-editor for the yearbook.

In the fall semester Zeta had its Third Annual Themis Ball in Lumberton. Randy Coppedge, a brother in Pi Kappa Phi fraternity was elected Zeta Beau. A special party was held honoring him. Zeta also had a pizza party with Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity this past year.

Zeta is proud of all its members. This past year has been eventful for all of them and it is looked upon with fond memories. Everyone is looking to the coming year with great expectations.

ALPHA THETA MU became the OMICRON DELTA chapter of TAU KAPPA EPSILON FRATERNITY on May 12, 1973 and has since strived to show leadership and brotherhood. The TKE's are community involved as well as campus oriented. This year, through the cooperation of the Pembroke Kiwanis Club, they collected and distributed nearly $500 worth of toys to several needy families in the Pembroke area in the annual TKE TOY DRIVE. TKE is also responsible for the basketball programs at all PSU home games. Another annual event is the Red Carnation Ball open to all active and alumni brothers. This year Charlene Averitt was crowned as the new TKE sweetheart. In other campus events, TKE's representative, Debra Martin was selected as Miss PSU. During Homecoming, TKE placed third in the float competition and Their representative Debra Lamm was chosen as 1st runner-up for Homecoming Queen. TKE stands for involvement and togetherness both on and off campus. TKE promotes brotherhood and above all . . . TKE IS UNIQUE!

 That somebody thinks
 They really found you.

Alpha Omega Upsilon

A strong local fraternity founded in 1969, Alpha Omega has grown in two areas which form the foundation of any successful fraternity; membership and financial security.

In the fall ATO threw a "pig pickin'" for its "Rush Party" which all attending enjoyed immensely. They remodeled their kitchen and improved the fraternity house in many ways. A very successful C.A.R.E. campaign was held in the spring of 1975. In the last year, ATO has had some very memorable weekends at Ocean Isle Beach. The new fraternity sweetheart is Miss Kathy Carrowan.

Alpha Omega hopes to keep their fraternity the closest and friendliest Greek organization on campus.

P.S. Still crazy after all these years.

Dear Diary,

This was the first day of the semester I actually sat in a chair in the student center. Not on the floor, not on the steps, but in a chair!

I almost had an identity crisis.

The student center reminds me a lot of the parking situation. It takes twenty minutes to find a space and if you leave for an instant, it's gone.

"Ralph" Rodney said to me, "I've been invited downtown for a friendly drink. I think I'll go." He went. It was his first alcoholic beverage. And his second... and his third. They carried him in about an hour ago.

He hasn't made a sound since.

Goodnight Diary.

Ralph

Friday, Jan. 10, 1976

Dear Diana,

Mom sent me a letter today. She can't understand why I wanted some more money. This might be the lowest tuition you'll find, but the cost of living is awful down here.

Drop-adds are $2.00 each after the first day. I dropped two and added two the second. Books and supplies are incomprehensible, every drink machine and telephone is dying to take your money.

Pool costs, foos-ball costs and so does pin-ball. Recreation is so expensive, I've resorted to soap operas.

○ Today Jan left Michael for Bob, whose sister is carrying Jan's first husband's child. Doctor Tyndall lost a patient today on another show, and his fiancée spent the day with Scott. Scott is 15 years her junior.

Rodney watches too. Soap operas are the most widely supported student activity at P.S.U. Passiveness is the in-thing here.

Goodnight, Diana-

Ralph
